ID	Work Item Type	Title	Test Step	Step Action	Step Expected	Priority	Area Path	Assigned T	State	Thiqah.TestType
	Test case	[R] Change reminder time using available interval op	1	1. The user is logged in. 2. The user is on the 'Reminders' screen. 3. The user has at least one set up reminder. 4. Current KSA time is earlier than (Departure time - selected Reminder interval).		2	RCRC MAAS Riyadh		Design	Functionalty
			2	Click the "reminder time" button	System shows a list of options (15 min, 25 min, 30 min, 1 hr) System checks that the new reminder time is in the future and updates it. System shows a confirmation message: - If it's a trip reminder: "Your trip has been updated in your reminders." - If it's a line reminder: "Line has been updated in your reminders."
			3	Select a reminder interval from the list
	Test case	[R] Dropdown closes when user clicks outside	1	1. The user is logged in. 2. The user is on the 'Reminders' screen. 3. The user has at least one set up reminder.		2	RCRC MAAS Riyadh		Design	Functionality
			2	Tap the "reminder time" button.	System shows a list of options (15 min, 25 min, 30 min, 1 hr) System closes the dropdown list The reminder is not changed;
			3	Click anywhere outside the dropdown list
	Test case	[R] Reminder time selected in the past	1	1. The user is logged in. 2. The user is on the 'Reminders' screen. 3. The user has a reminder time is earlier than current KSA time.		2	RCRC MAAS Riyadh		Design	Functionality
			2	Click the "reminder time" button	System shows a list of options (15 min, 25 min, 30 min, 1 hr) System rejects the selection and shows message: "Reminder time can't be in the past."
			3	Select a reminder interval that sets reminder time	Reminder time remains unchanged
	Test case	[R] Change reminder time after reminder triggered	1	1. The user is logged in. 2. The user is on the 'Reminders' screen. 3. The user has an already triggered reminder.		2	RCRC MAAS Riyadh		Design	Functionality
			2	Tap the "reminder time" button.	System shows a list of options (15 min, 25 min, 30 min, 1 hr) System rejects the change. System shows message: "The reminder has already passed. You can no longer change the time for this reminder."
			3	Select a new reminder interval from the list						